

Lukas Haynes, Vice President, Mertz Gilmore Foundation

Lukas Haynes is Vice President of the Mertz Gilmore Foundation where he is responsible for separate philanthropic programs to invest in low-income New York City communities and to mitigate the risks of global warming. He is also a part-time adjunct associate professor of philanthropy and global affairs at New York University. He was previously New York Representative of the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation and a program officer for international peace and security. He also served on the Policy Planning Staff of the U.S. State Department as speechwriter for Secretary of State Madeleine K. Albright. Lukas was educated at the College of William & Mary and Oxford University, where he earned a Master's degree in International Relations. He is the acting board chair of Independent Diplomat and a former board chair of the Truman National Security Institute.